

AMNS 298 Disposer supreme, and Judge of the earth

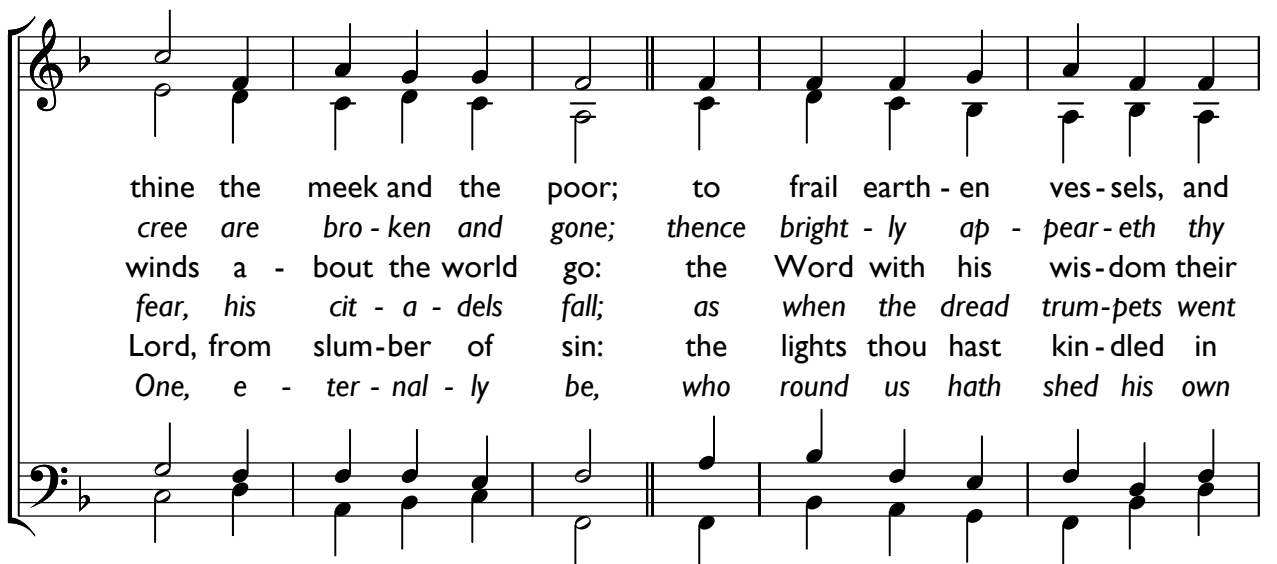

Melody: Old 104th

J. B. de Santeuil (1630-1697),
tr. Isaac Williams (1802-1865)

T. Ravenscroft
(c. 1588-1635)

1. Dis - pos - er su - preme, and Judge of the earth, who choos - est for
2. those ves - sels soon fail, though full of thy light, and at thy de -
3. Like clouds are they borne to do thy great will, and swift as the
4. Their sound go - eth forth, "Christ Je - sus the Lord!" then Sa - tan doth
5. O loud be their trump, and stir - ring their sound, to rouse us, O
6. All hon - our and praise, do - min - ion and might, to God, Three in thine the meek and the poor; to frail earth - en ves - sels, and cree are bro - ken and gone; thence bright - ly ap - pear - eth thy winds a - bout the world go: the Word with his wis - dom their fear, his cit - a - dels fall; as when the dread trum - pets went Lord, from slum - ber of sin: the lights thou hast kin - dled in One, e - ter - nal - ly be, who round us hath shed his own things of no worth, en - trust - ing thy rich - es which ay shall en - dure;

truth in its might, as through the clouds riv - en the lightnings have shone.
spi - rits doth fill; they thun - der, they light - en, the wa - ters o'er - flow.
forth at thy word, and one long blast shat - tered the Ca - naan - ite's wall.
dark - ness a - round, O may they a - wak - en our spi - rits with - in.
mar - vel - lous light, and called us from dark - ness his glo - ry to see.